Dear Jean,

I should have written sooner to tell you how much Coterie enjoyed the musical program you brought us on March 20th. I failed to say so at the time and I am sorry. (Frankly, I am ill at east when conducting a meeting or making a talk--unless it is all written out--my mind seems to go into neutral).

At our April meeting several of us talked about what a delightful program you and your friends presented. We'll hope that you can do it again sometime.

It was kind of you to be responsible for a program and we are grateful.

Sincerely yours,

Think on These Things

The sunset on a placid lake The dew upon the rose; The twitter of a bird at eve, A baby's sweet repose, The charm of weathered driftwood A sea-gulls eerie cry, And storm tossed naked trees Etched on a lonely sky. The song of whispering winds Through tree-tops in the night A rippling, babbling brook And dawns of pink sunlight And if there any goodness be Or joy that each day brings: Then let your heart rejoice in this, And think ye on these things.

Coterie members learn about French matting

At the May meeting, Coterie members enjoyed a picnic at the home of Mrs. Randall Lee. She was assisted by Mrs. Sylvan Tackett.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Gordon Gray introduced Fran Whitcomb, who specializes in French matting. This is the art of adding lines and patterns of color to the mat around a picture.

Mrs. Whitcomb said that she uses rag board, instead of regular mat board, because it is acid-free and won't bleed and stain the art

Matting pictures is an art in itself

By Jacqueline White

of The Journal Staff

Next time you see a work of art, stop a minute and take a look at the mat that surrounds it. Chances are it won't be anything special — unless you happened to set your eyes on one of Fran Whitcomb's creations.

Whitcomb, who works through the Sherwood Collection Art Gallery, 4451 N. Oakland Ave, Shorewood, has revived the old art of French matting. The process, most popular in the late 19th century, involved painting watercolor lines and bands on the mat around a picture. Often the same pattern was repeated for many works.

In Whitcomb's version of the process, copyrighted "French Mat Originals," each mat is custom designed to complement the artwork it will surround. She often brings a pattern or color out of the picture and incorporates it into the border. Sometimes this will involve copying a specific design, such as a leaf, from the picture.

Whitcomb is particularly concerned that her custom pastel mats enhance, but don't compete with, the art. "You have to be careful even though you're embellishing the artwork that you don't overwhelm it," she cautioned.

Trained as a commercial artist, Whitcomb was first attracted to decorative mats through her conservation work in framing galleries. Conservation framing helps preserve artwork by using materials such as acid-free rag board. Over time, the chemicals in regular mat board will discolor paper that comes in contact with it.

The problem with the special rag board is that color choice is limited. "I kept having customers ask for a color in a rag mat, but the color simply wasn't available. What could I do? They say you find a need and fill it," Whitcomb said.

She no longer has any difficulty when someone requests a color that is not available in acid-free rag board. She can now offer conservation framing in a limitless number of shades, either by coloring the mat solid or by creating a vivid design. As an added bonus, she says her decorative mats "just make the work a little more special."

Coterie meets after summer break

Mrs. Harold Schuman was hostess for the September meeting of the Martinsville Coterie. She was assisted by Mrs. Randall Lee.

Members enjoyed getting together after the summer break. They shared craft items that had been made over the summer.

The next meeting of Coterie will be on Tuesday, Oct. 15, at the home of Mrs. Robert Rusie.

at the October meeting of Coterie, held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Rusie, Mr. Charles Horrell of Hilliard + Lyono gave a fascinating talk about investing in the stock market. He cited three fictitions unvestors, comparing the different ways in which they invested their money. He then reviewed three actual investors: Warren Buffett of Berkshire Hathaway; John Templeton, a nutual fund manager; and Peter Lynch, founder of the very prosperous fidelity Autual Magellan trust. all three have very different investment styles, yet all are extremely successful. Mr. Horrell suggested that the private investor take his Time and want for something he understands and knows to be a value.

Wanda Allen reported that the Morgan County library now has "Value Line", a publication that follows 2000 individual companies.

At the short business meeting which followed Mr. Horrell's talk, Jean Richardson, reporting for the Treasurer Mary Gulliver, Stated that the current balance was $ 147.98. Susie Lee, Vice-President, asked all members to put Joanne Bergmans name and phone number in the Cotine both since Joanne is a resorment has joined us.

her recent trip to St. Catherine's, a locality that She say, "was interesting, impressive and had a deep impact on me." St. Catherine's is a monastery built on the site of the Burning Bush at the foot of Mt. Sinai. The byzantine Emperor, Justinian the Great, erected the monastery in the Sixth century as a combination fortress and Shrine. Its walls are impregnable yet today. On its walls are ancient icons which represent priceless works of religious art. The oldest bible was discovered there in 1975 and is now at the British purseum in Condon.

The treasurer, Mary Gulliver reported a balance of $147.98. Rose alice Watson asked what we will use these funds for President, Jessie Schemmen asked members to be thinking of suggestions.

In vice President, Susie Lee's absence Jessie announced that the next meeting would be December 17, at Nancy Witham's.

Respectfully Submitted, havy Witham, Sec. Jessie Scheman Ples.

paucy Withau. Sec. Jessie Schuman, Pres.

Mrs. Randall Lee is hostess to Coterie

Mrs. Randall Lee was hostess for the March meeting of Coterie. Mrs. Sylvan Tackett was co-hostess.

Following a brief business meeting, Molly Fenneman presented a program on Margaret Sanger, a woman of strength and purpose, who made it her life's mission to disseminate information on birth control.

Mrs. Fenneman related that Margaret grew up in the latter part of the 19th century, when contraception was considered obscene. As a nurse, she saw the poverty and death brought on by multiple, unwanted pregnancies and self-induced abortions. She spent her adult life gathering and distributing birth control information all over the world. By the mid-20th century, control of fertility loomed as a major world issue, and Margaret organized the first international conference on population planning, as well as Planned Parenthood clinics all over the United States.

Next month's meeting of Coterie will be at the home of Mrs. Al Gulliver.

Mrs. Sylvan Tachett served as assistant hostess to the March meeting of Coterie held at the home of Mrs, Roudall Lee.

During the brief business meeting the Treasurer reported a current balance of $149.98. Under new business, President Jessie Schuman asked the nominating committee, Helen Davis, Ruth Rusie, and France Schnaiter to have a Slate of officers ready to present at the agril meeting.

Molly tenneman gave an interesting and enlightening program on the founder of Planned Parenthood, Margaret Sanger. Mrs. Sanger was a woman of Strength and purpose who made it has life's work to desseminate information on buth control. In the latter part of the nineteenth century When Contraception was considered obscene, Margaret Steadfastly gathered and distributed birth control information, Howing seen poverty and death brought on by multiple unwanted pregnancies, She was, as a nurse and a woman of great conscience, determined to change societies views. By the mid-twentieth century, control of fertility loomed as a major world issue &, Margaret ... remained as a proveer in the field or gaining the tirst international conference on population

april 21, 1992

The april meeting of Cotorie was held at the home of Mary gulliver with seventeen members present. Pat Burdy was the assistant hostess. fanet gray introduced the speaker Carolyn gier. The is a former teacher who now works at The Morgan County Public Library. Her job includes presenting programs at three nursing homes and the County Home each worth. This year the theme is Indiana authors, Poets, composers and Artists. Mrs. gerer gave a delightful review of James Hleyander Thoms Follow the River. Mr. Thom and his Shawnee wife, Black Rain, live near Elletsville, Indiana. They often go into the woods, build a fire and share their ancestral histories, which they believe "runs through our veins like DNA." hu. Thom who says he "lives in the 18th century" became interested in the personalities of early pioneers. He does a lot of field research for his books which include a Story about Lewis + Clark.

Tollow the Rever is the Story of Will and harry Ingalls that begins in 1785 in a settlement of twelve people in Virginia. Marry is kidnapped by Shawnee and taken on a long journey. The book fraces her heroic, and horrifying experience in returning home once again.

a brief business meeting followed the speaker. The treasurer reported a current balance of $149.98. The Nominating Committee presented the slate of officers for the 1992-93 year:

> Vice Bresident - Navy Witham Freasurer - Mildred Baughman Secretary - Lucy Gowin

Mrs. Hooker Talks to Coterie about Facial Scars

The October meeting of Coterie was at the home of Mrs. Gordon Gray. Mrs. Robert Schnaiter was cohostess.

After the luncheon, a brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Randall Lee.

Mrs. Tom Gowin introduced Mrs. Eric Hooker, an esthetic rehabilitation specialist.

Mrs. Hooker is a graduate of Indiana University with a degree in theatre. Before entering the facial rehabilitation field she was a theatrical make-up artist.

As a rehabilitation specialist, she works with those who have disfigurement of the face. The disfigurements could be due to birthmarks, skin grafts, trauma, burn injuries and acid scars created by surgery.

She spoke of "Faces of Hope," available at Riley Hospital in Indianapolis. It is a community service, free of charge to children and adults with facial scars.

She explained the make-up artist covers the scars with a creamy tint carefully matched to the victim's skin coloring. The make-up is then sealed with a water-proofing powder strong enough to withstand swimming.

The technique of camouflaging a deep facial birthmark was demonstrated on a victim of disfigurement. "By changing the outside, we allow the inside person to shine through," Mrs. Hooker said.

Mrs. Horrell Is Hostess for Coterie Luncheon

Mrs. Charless Horrell was hostess for the November luncheon of Coterie. She was assisted by Mrs. William Bray.

Following a brief business meeting, Mrs. Robert Rusie reviewed "The Moon's a Balloon," an autobiography of David Nevin.

The extraordinary life and extraordinary friends of David, who had been, in turn, an athlete, a soldier, a bootlegger, an organizer of indoor 'pony races,' and through a stroke of incredible fortune, a Hollywood star, was related.

Young David was bullied at prep school, expelled, sent to a corrective school, and finally entered Stowe, a school where he was happy.

Later, he joined the Highland Light Infantry and was sent to Malta. Here he met the legendary Trubshawe, who became his lifelong friend. Through friends, he met Barbara Hutton, who introduced him to the American "good" life. He resigned his commission and sailed to America and into a film career.

Turned down by his former regiment at the outbreak of World War II, he joined the high-risk commandos and was discharged with the rank of colonel.

His return to Hollywood led to a checkered career, including being fired by Goldwyn and winning an Oscar. It also led to the greatest tragedy of his life, the death of his wife Primmie, leaving him with two small sons.

He returned to England and later married Hjordis, a lovely Swedish girl. Two daughters were born of this marriage. His death occurred in 1983.

The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Craig Fenneman.

Mrs. Branch Entertains at Piano for Coterie

Seventeen members of Coterie enjoyed a Christmas luncheon at the home of Mrs. Craig Fenneman. Mrs. Randall Lee was co-hostess.

Mrs. James Branch, pianist, who plays "because I love to play," entertained the members with a medley of traditional songs. The musical renditions were those she uses as a guest entertainer on a cruise ship. She concluded the program with two of her own compositions, "I'm a Happy Little Girl Because I Know There Is a Santa Claus," a light-hearted Christmas song; and "Just Look at the Stars Come Christmas," which she composed and sent as a gift to her husband who was serving overseas during World War II.

Coterie Hears Book Review of President Harrison

Mrs. Thomas Gowin was hostess for the March luncheon of Coterie. Mrs. Al Gulliver was co-hostess. The guest speaker was Mrs. Raymond Blunk, who reviewed the book, "William Henry Harrison, a Political Biography," written by Dorothy Burne Goebel and published by the Indiana Historical Society as one of their biographical series.

Harrison was the son of Benjamin Harrison, who was a strong member of the Revolutionary Party and chairman of the committee to draft the Declaration of Independence. His family was active in politics from the early days of the Virginia Colony and belonged to the aristocracy of the Colony. It is one of the inconsistencies of our political system that he became the "log cabin" candidate for the presidency.

He was one of the outstanding military figures of his era and always active on the political scene. He was secretary of the Northwest Territory, the first representative to Congress for the territory, the first governor and superintendent of Indian affairs of the Indiana Territory, and served as a Representative and Senator from Ohio.

He ran losing campaigns for governor of Ohio and in 1836 for the presidency. In 1840, he became our ninth president, the first man elected to live outside the original states, and the first Whig elected to the presidency. He served 12-1/2 hours less than 31 days, the shortest presidential term ever served, and he was the only president to have a grandson become president.

Following the program, a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Randall Lee.

The April meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Richard Witham.

Mrs. Sylvan Tackitt Presents Program for Coterie

Mrs. Richard Witham was hostess for the April Coterie luncheon, with Mrs. Walter Gano as co-hostess.

The program was presented by Mrs. Sylvan Tack itt, who related the history of the Golden Lamb. Ohio's oldest inn. She said that this nation was a young land, and Ohio had been a state less than a year, when the Golden Lamb, located in Lebanon, Ohio, opened its doors to serve its guests. The inn, with its 40 sleeping rooms, became a house of public entertainment. Stage coaches rumbled daily through the town. People arrived by stage from far and near to stay at the inn and enjoy elaborate programs, political discussions, theatrical productions and delicious food.

Important figures from throughout the world are listed on its guest register. Each room in the inn is named for one of its famous occupants. William McKinley, Benjamin Harrison and Charles Dickens are only a few names listed on individual rooms. Only one room bears the name of a woman. It is the Harriet Beecher Stowe room.

The early part of the 19th century was a period of transition in politics, business and transportation. The Golden Lamb ended its stagecoach days and became a commercial hotel. Today, over 190 years later, it is one of the Midwest's most famous landmarks. Its doors are still open for its many guests who still come from far and near.

The May meeting of Coterie will be at the home of Mrs. Ernest Baughman.

Mrs. C.W. Allen will be hostess for the October meeting.

Mrs. Lauderman Presents Program for Coterie

Mrs. Ronald (Debbie) Lauderman informed members of Coterie at the October meeting about the role of the Red Cross. She is director of the Morgan County Unit.

Mrs. C.W. Allen was hostess for the luncheon meeting, assisted by Mrs. Lee Davis. Following the luncheon, a short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Randall Lee.

Mrs. Lauderman told the group that the Red Cross was founded in 1881, and in 1905 received its charter from Congress. She said that the Red Cross is the No. 1 authority in the United States for disaster relief and service to the military. The Red Cross is a humanitarian organization, led by volunteers, that provides relief to victims of disasters and helps prevent, prepare for and respond to emergencies.

She said that Morgan County, which is part of the Indianapolis Area Chapter, consists of two paid staff members, the director and a part-time secretary. The local chapter consists of 200 registered volunteers. There are 2,900 chapters in the United States with 250,000 volunteers.

The transportation division of the local chapter is in constant use, she stated. It is free of charge and provides transportation for medical purposes to county residents with a doctor referral to designated hospitals.

She explained that disaster services consist of damage assessment, mass care, family service, health nursing and welfare inquiry. The Morgan County Chapter is in the process of developing programs for the youth of the community. Classes in basic aid training are now being taught in all but one elementary school in the county. Leadership Development Camp for Youth is available for all interested young people. Friendship boxes are placed in elementary schools to be filled with various items and sent to different localities. Classes to education the public on health and safety procedures are available locally. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation, first aid safety and child care are among the various courses taught.

Program on 'Water' Presented for Coterie

Mrs. Walter Gano was hostess for the November luncheon of Coterie. She was assisted by Mrs. Robert Schnaiter.

Mrs. Robert Rusie presented the program, "Water: The Most Valuable Element in our Lives." She told how water relates to happiness, sadness and beauty. She explained the influence it has on the ecological, industrial and spiritual phases of the world. She remarked how the legends, myths and water-witching stories are a part of the history of water's influence on civilization.

Mrs. Rusie spoke of the spas and how today there is a cultural revival of the spas with innovative programs based around the therapeutic value of the waters. She said that today's spas are also favored vacation resorts.

Mrs. Robert Schnaiter gave a brief history of the Home Lawn Sanitarium. She said it was a show place for celebrities, including Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Many came from far and near to bathe in the healing waters and to enjoy the social life.

Development of Porcelain Explained for Coterie

Mrs. Charles Horrell presented a program on porcelains for member of Coterie at the March meeting, hosted by Mrs. Robert Bundy with Mrs. Gordon Gray as co-hostess.

Mrs. Horrell explained how porcelain evolved from pottery, where the potter altered the clay to various consistencies. She said that there are different kinds of porcelain: The hard, which is the true porcelain; the soft paste, which is almost chalky and less durable; and the bone porcelain, in which bone ash has been added to the clay.

Mrs. Horrell told of the different means of decorating, engraving the decorations on the white base; colorization, where color has been added; and glazing, where color has been put in the glaze. She said that porcelain factories began to flourish in England during the 17th century because of the popularity of tea-drinking parties.

It was in the 19th century that Americans learned the art of producing porcelain figurines. Florence Ceramics was the first to make the new product.

Royal Doulton in England is the most extensive of all the European potteries. It was founded by John Doulton and John Watts, who manufactured drain and sewage pipes. Today there are over 2,000 patterns of their porcelains; however, only 300 are on display.

In Germany, Dresden produces superior ware.

Berta Hummel, born in 1909 in a small German village, is known throughout the world for delightful figurines of children. As a talented child she drew, designed and painted constantly. She led a very sheltered life. After graduation from school she entered the Sisterhood and later became a Franciscan nun. Goebel, a manufacturer, obtained the rights to her works. They transferred her sketches to terra cotta.

During the war, the U.S. government permitted the export of the figurines to the United States. Marshall Fields in 1936 was the first outlet in America for the Hummel figurines. Berta Hummel's work depicts childhood in its most delightful moments. She died in 1946.

The April meeting of Coterie will be at the home of Mrs. Richard Witham.

Coterie Members Enjoy Reminiscing

A program consisting of "Memories of Martinsville and Morgan County" was presented by Mrs. Robert Rusie for the April luncheon meeting of Coterie. Mrs. Richard Witham was hostess and was assisted by Mrs. Ernest Baughman.

Mrs. Rusie told about the Morgan County Hall of Fame. She explained that it started in 1976, the year of the bicentennial. The requirement for listing in the Hall of Fame was "anyone who has brought fame to Morgan County."

Nominations for listing came from the entire county. Membership selections consisted of pioneer and early civic leaders in the categories of business, education, fine arts, government, humanities, journalism, military, science and sports.

Mrs. Rusie read the names and told of the contributions the selected individuals had made in their fields. She suggested the membership be updated to include recent and current individuals who have made outstanding contributions to Morgan County. She said the book containing the names is in the genealogy department of the Morgan County Public Library.

Mrs. William Bray displayed a cookbook published in 1934 by the Martinsville Department Club. It contains favorite recipes of the active club women of Martinsville.

Mrs. Walter Gano reminisced about the early days of Martinsville and Morgan County. She spoke of the Gossard Farm and the Ayreshire cattle raised there. She talked about the three Bradford brothers and their estate, which was given to Indiana University and is at present enjoyed by elementary children for outdoor education experiences. She described the early days along the public square and the interurban line, which provided transportation between Martinsville and Indianapolis.

Mrs. Robert Schnaiter reminded the members that Coterie was founded at the beginning of the century by a group of women who were interested in doing something intellectual. The group later divided into two organizations, presently Coterie and Kensington.

Following the program, a short business meeting was conducted.

The May meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Al Gulliver.

Coterie Starts New Year with President's Day Luncheon

The annual President's Day luncheon meeting of Coterie was at the home of Mrs. Richard Witham. Mrs. Kenneth Watson was co-hostesses.

Following the luncheon was a short business meeting conducted by Mrs. Witham. Then, instead of just telling about their summer activities, Mrs. Witham asked the members to describe them in cinquains. A cinquain is a "prescription poem," in which she wrote the "prescription," or rules, and the members filled it.

Members wrote poems titled "What I Did on My Summer Vacation," or "I Am a Poet," which were shared with the group.

Mrs. Witham encouraged members to continue to choose poetry as a way of expressing thoughts and feelings.

The October meeting of Coterie will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Payne.

October 18, 1994 The Martinsville Coterie met Tuesday at the home of Phyllis Payne, John Bergman served as co-hostess. Tollowing the luncheon mildred Baughman called the meeting to order. after roll call the minutes were read and approved. The Treasurer's report gave a beginning balance - $208,43, receipts (dues) - $ 16.00, and an ending balance of $ 214.43. Next, Harriet Jackitt presented a program about angels. The majority of sarriet's research came from four books: Brush of an angel's Hing by Charles Shed, Rustle of Ungels by Marilyn Webber, Ungels, God's Secret agents by Billy Braham and Ithere angels Italk by Joann anderson. Darriet's interest in the topic of angels was piqued by many published articles concerning angels in recent times, In 1975 Billy Grahams book started a great surge of interest in these supernatural creatures in his book Rev. Graham stated there are about 300 specific references to angels in the Bible. Harriet felt that anderson's book, which dealt mostly with stories told to her about experiences with angels, was one of the best books on this subject. angels have been credited with intervening in world events as well as in the lives of ordinary people. Hollowing the program Mildred reminded members that next month's meeting would be at Kuth Rusies. Respectfully submitted, Jan Horrell, Secretary Nancy Witham, President

Coterie Hears History of Hanukkah

The December meeting of the Martinsville Coterie was at the home of Mrs. Janet Gray, with Mrs. Jan Horrell as co-hostess.

Mrs. Wanda Allen presented a history of Hanukkah, the Jewish "festival of lights" celebration. Because it is celebrated at this time of year, many people compare it to Christianity's Christmas, Mrs. Allen said. "However," she added, "Hanukkah is not truly a religius holiday, but is more like a Jewish Independence Day."

She related that when Antiochus the Great rule, he wanted to control both the country and the religion of the Jews. So he did away with Jewish customs and replaced them with Greek customs.

When the Maccabees recaptured the land and rededicated the Temple, it took eight days. This was the first battle for religious freedom, the freedom to worship as one chose.

To remember this freedom, Jews celebrate with their families by lighting the menorah, giving gifts, sharing riddles, playing games and eating latkas, or potato pancakes.

Mrs. Allen ended the program by sharing the story, "The Miracle of the Potato Latka," about a poor Jewish woman named Golda, who made the best latkas in her village. However, one year, she only had one potato and was unable to borrow any from the other villagers. So she made one latka and shared it with a beggar at her door. The next morning she awoke to find one potato by the candle. The next morning she found two potatoes, and so on, until on the eighth day, she had eight potatoes and a full potato bin. What a warm story about sharing and blessings!

Coterie Hears History of Hanukkah

The December meeting of the Martinsville Coterie was at the home of Mrs. Janet Gray, with Mrs. Jan Horrell as co-hostess.

Because it is celebrated at this time of year, many people compare it to Christianity's Christmas, Mrs. Allen said. "However," she added, "Hanukkah is not truly a religius holiday, but is more like a Jewish Independence Day."

She related that when Antiochus the Great rule, he wanted to control both the country and the religion of the Jews. So he did away with Jewish customs and replaced them with Greek customs.

the land and rededicated the Temple, it took eight days. This was the first battle for religious freedom, the freedom to worship as one chose.

To remember this freedom, Jews celebrate with their families by lighting the menorah, giving gifts, sharing riddles, playing games and eating latkas, or potato pancakes.

Mrs. Allen ended the program by sharing the story, "The Miracle of the Potato Latka," about a poor Jewish woman named Golda, who made the best latkas in her village. However, one year, she only had one potato and was unable to borrow any from the other villagers. So she made one latka and shared it with a beggar at her door. The next morning she awoke to find one potato by the candle. The next morning she found two potatoes, and so on, until on the eighth day, she had eight potatoes and a full potato bin. What a warm story about sharing and blessings!

March 21, 1995 The march meeting of Coterie was held at the home of Molly Frenneman with twelve members present. Tollowing a short business meeting hancy Witham terrned the program over to marjorie Baurley who introduced her pediatrician friend, Dr. Jasneem mand, who enlightened members on the Islamic faith. Coterie Enjoys Program about Islam Twelve members of Coterie met at the home of Molly Fenneman for the monthly meeting and enjoyed a program on Islam by Dr. Tasneem Majid, a pediatrician originally from India.

Tasneem and her family moved to the Indianapolis area because of the large Muslim community of believers in the Plainfield area.

While she shared information about her faith, she passed around "A Muslim Primer," by Ira Zepp Jr., and several pamplets on Islam.

She explained that Islam means peace by submitting to the will of the one God. This peace extends to relationships with other people. Muslims believe that Muhammad was God's last and final messenger. He was born in a noble tribe of Mecca in Arabia in 570 A.D. Through the angel Gabriel, God gave Muhammad many revelations. The revelations make up the Quran, along with collective sayings of previous prophets, including Moses, Abraham and Jesus.

The five essential Muslim principles include faith in the one God, prayer five times a day, fasting from sunrise to sunset during the sacred month when the Quran was revealed, charity or giving two and one-half percent to help the poor, and making a pilgrimmage to Mecca, if possible.

Since there is no dating or premarital sex in the Islamic faith, parents arrange marriages for their children. Remarkably, over 90 percent of these marriage work out, she said.

Coterie Members Enjoy Program on Letters

Members of Coterie enjoyed a luncheon at their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Baurley. Mrs. Mary Gulliver was co-hostess.

A program on "letters" was presented by Mrs. Mildred Baughman.

Mrs. Baughman gave a brief history of letter-writing, and then talked about different types of letters, such as Christmas, birthday, pen pal and love letters, just to name a few.

Mrs. Baughman stated that a letter is a gift to someone with no strings attached. It simply tells someone that you care. Things that you can't say aloud you can write in a letter. It becomes a connection with someone who is dear to you.

Passed around was the library book, "Famous Letters," by Frank McLynn, which contains letters by famous people who have shaped our world. Coterie members enjoyed a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ruth Rusie. Mrs. Helen Davis was co-hostess. After the luncheon Mrs. Mancy Iritham Conducted the business meeting. Following the reading of last months minutes, the treasurer's report was given with a balance of $1256, 43.

Paine had permanently moved to Florida we have three openings in our membership instead of two. The names submitted last month for membership; Mrs. Jean Shelton, Mrs. Pam McDaniel, and Mrs. Sarah Itells; were each voted on and accepted.

Next Mrs. Molly Tenneman presented a pun program on aging. She stated that the difference between aging and getting old is that aging is a biological change while getting old is a social concept. Our culture, unlike some does not honor aging.

The average age of a woman, or her average life span, has steadily increased over the years. In the 1960s there were about 3,000 people over the age of 100 Today that number is 54,000. By 2050 it is expected to rise to 2.7 million. The maximum living age, however, has changed very little. The oldest living woman is 115. In the next 10,000 years that may only go up to 120. ofter reading a few passages from If I Had my Life to Live Over Molly told about several extraordinary older women featured in the book Difts of age. She stressed that we need strong role models who can help Change negative concepts of aging.

Auter Talks to Coterie a

Sarah Wells was hostess for the November meeting of Coterie She was assisted by Pam McDaniel. A new member, Becky Lowdermilk, was welcomed.

Dr. James Auter, superintendent of the Metropolitan School District of Martinsville, spoke to the group about the SCICAN Network, and the use of computers and the Internet in education today.

Auter demonstrated the use of the Internet, using equipment purchased with funds from the MSDM Education Foundation. The equipment enabled him to project the computer monitor screen onto a wall, or movie screen. He showed how to use a search engine, called Magellan, to find information on virtually any topic.

Auter stated that the school system has access to the Internet through SCICAN Network at no cost. Members of the community can be connected through SCICAN for only $12 a month for unlimited use.

"Knowledge is doubling every two years," he stated. "It takes six years for information to make it into textbooks. Because of computers, students have instant access to information from around the world. It is essential that our children are 'computer literate,' because so many jobs now involve the use of computers."

A short business meeting followed the speaker. Members voted to make a cash donation to the MDS of Martinsville Education Foundation.

The December meeting will be at the home of Mae Gano.

Coterie has program on life of Pat Conroy

Molly Fenneman was hostess for the March meeting of Coterie. She was assisted by Esther Bray.

An interesting program was presented by Ruth Rusie on the life of author Pat Conroy. Many of Conroy's books were autobiographical, although, technically, they were novels.

The Great Santini dealt with the love-hate relationship between Pat and his father, a Marine. The elder Conroy was very strict and regimented, and Pat spent much of his life seeking the approval of his father.

Lords of Discipline chronicled Pat's years at the Citadel, while The Water Is High discussed his years in the Peace Corps. He was sent to an island (called Yamacraw in the book), where he worked with people who were isolated from the rest of the world.

His latest book, Beach Music, is largely about his mother, who died from cancer. Other books by Pat Conroy include Prince of Tides and The Zoo.

Coterie learns about growing herbs

Jean Shelton was hostess for the April meeting of Coterie. She was assisted by Jenie Schuman.

Following a short business meeting, Jan Horrell presented an entertaining program on growing herbs. She said there are hundreds of thousands of herbs, which are easy to grow. Most require at least five hours of sun, she said. They can be used for borders, patios or rectangular plots.

The speaker said there are many uses for herbs, including medicinal, decorative and culinary.

Mrs. Horrell gave the history of some herbs, including lavender, saffron and fennel. She also passed around pots of mint, parsley, rosemary, oregano and basil as she told about each herb. The Book of Herbs by Lesley Bremner was also passed around. It is full of information on herbs, including how to make many things with them.
